Introduction to the innovative business model of IWM International Mall

INNOVATION

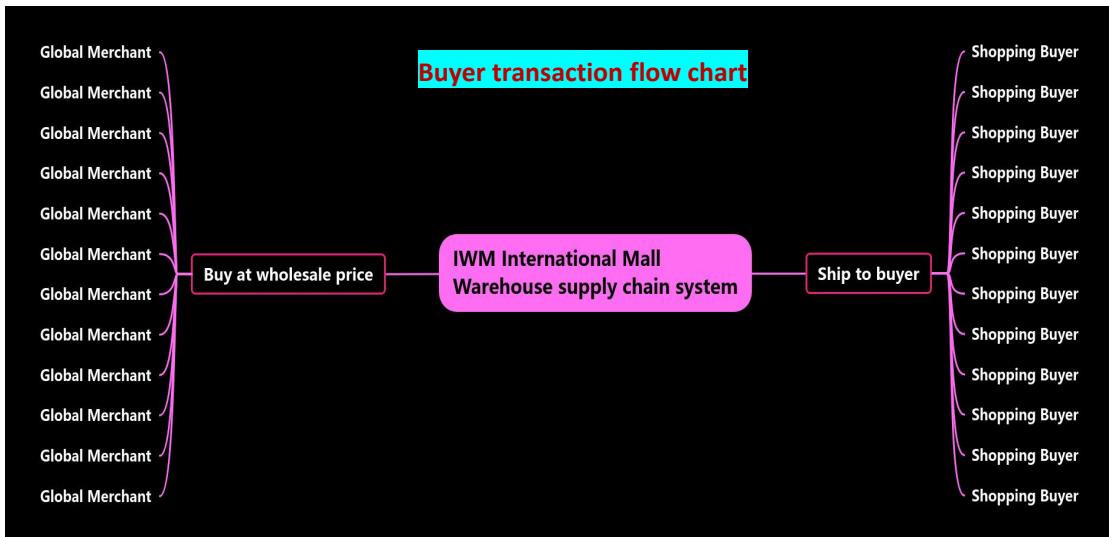

Innovative enterprise name: IWM International Mall

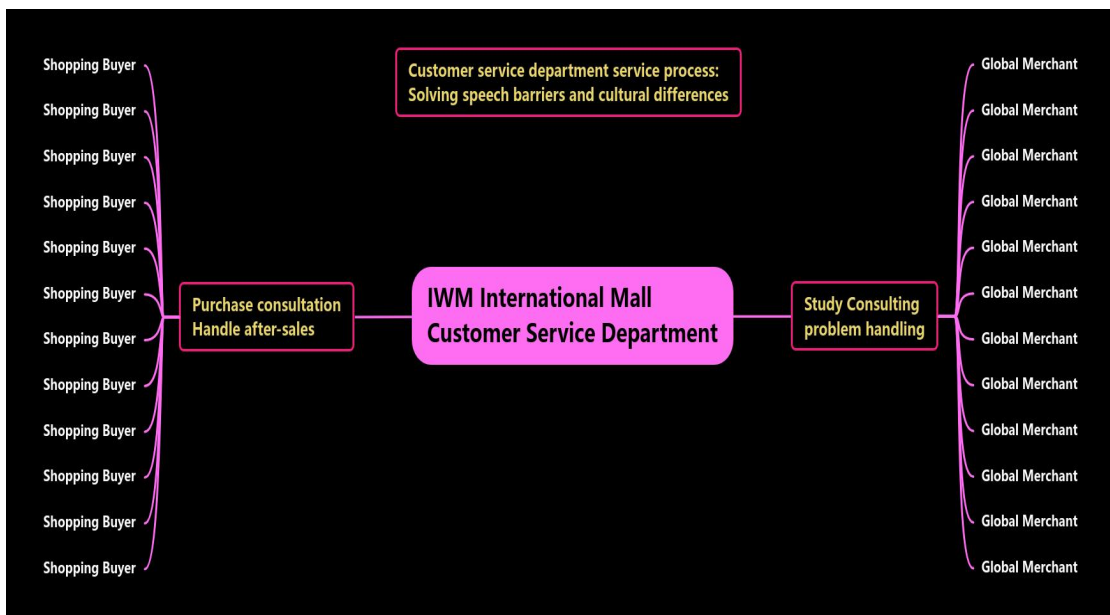

Introduction to the innovative business model of IWM International Mall:

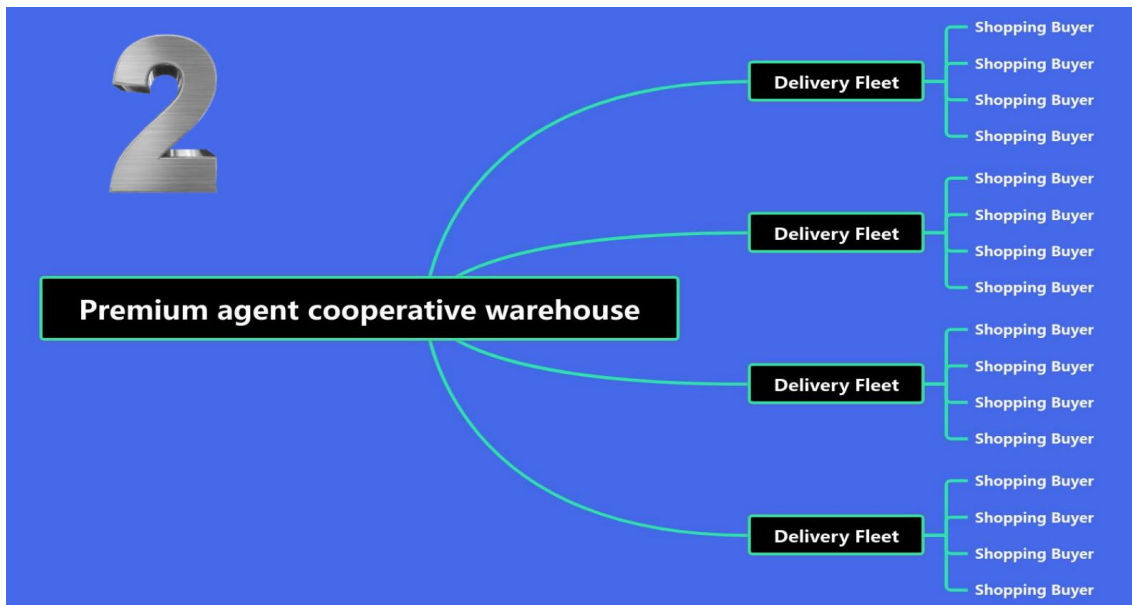

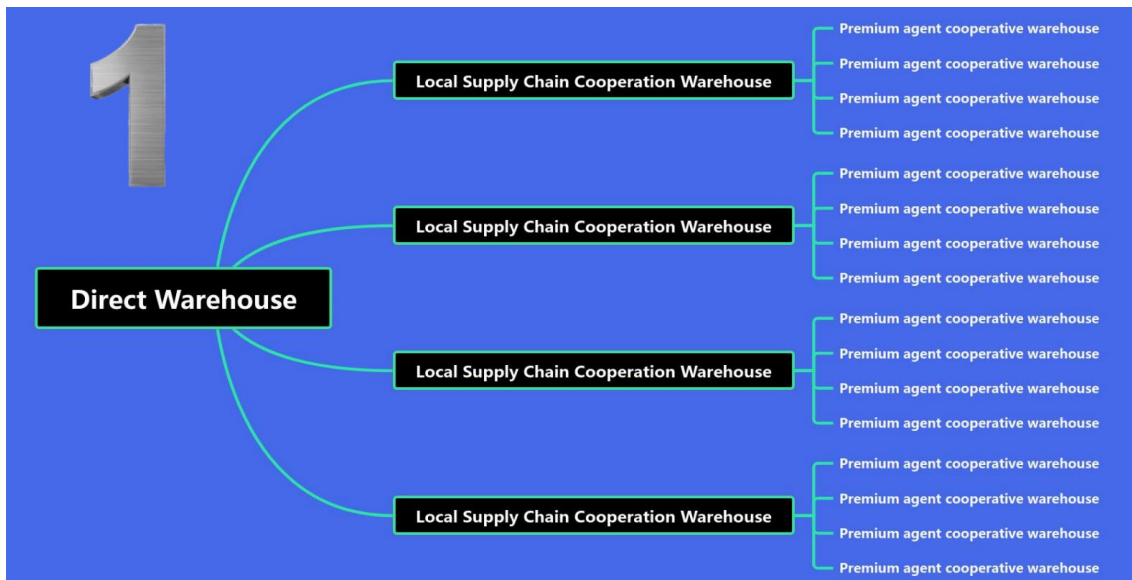

1. IWM International Mall cooperates with global businesses through leasing cooperation. Merchants do not need to invest high costs to open an online store. They only need to rent an online store with a low investment to start operating cross-border e-commerce and earn income. This not only lowers the entry barrier for merchants, but also makes it possible for many merchants with limited resources but entrepreneurial dreams to realize their dreams.

2. Merchants do not need to be responsible for the production and warehousing of goods, and only need to use the powerful commodity library resources of IWM International Mall. After the buyer places an order, the merchant only needs to purchase the goods at the wholesale price, and the warehouse of IWM International Mall will provide the merchant with a dropshipping service and ship the goods to the buyer. In this way, merchants can focus more on marketing and operations to increase store exposure and conversion rates.

3. IWM International Mall attaches great importance to customer service and after-sales issues. In order to solve the problems of language barriers and local culture between merchants and shopping buyers, the customer service department of IWM International Mall employs more than 3,000 customer service personnel. The customer service personnel come from all over the world and are very familiar with language communication and local culture. Whether it is shopping communication or handling after-sales issues, the customer service department provides merchants with a full range of service support.

Relying on its powerful warehouse logistics and distribution ecosystem, IWM International Mall makes it easier to operate cross-border e-commerce, allowing merchants to easily start cross-border e-commerce businesses. IWM International Mall has a complete logistics distribution system and an intelligent warehousing management system, which can process orders and logistics information quickly and accurately, providing merchants and buyers with an efficient and convenient shopping experience.

To sum up, the innovative business model of IWM International Mall provides global merchants with a convenient, efficient and low-cost cross-border e-commerce platform, helping global merchants to easily realize cross-border e-commerce entrepreneurship. This business model not only reduces the entrepreneurial risks of merchants, but also provides consumers with more high-quality and affordable product choices.

IWM International Mall provides merchants with more business opportunities and income sources through advanced supply chain management, digital marketing strategies and a strong warehousing, logistics and distribution ecosystem. For you who have investment vision, IWM International Mall is undoubtedly a good project worthy of attention. If you are interested in IWM's business model, you may wish to consider joining it. I believe you will receive generous returns.
